What is Disciple-Making Worship?

D.M.W. is a three-and-a-half-hour training that equips leaders with a practical, step-by-step approach to helping children move from spectators to active apprentices of Jesus. You will learn how to help children and preteens grow in their faith, use their spiritual gifts, live on mission, and make disciples. You will leave with a clear plan to put these principles into practice in your ministry.

Meet Our Team

Dr. Clint May, President and Founder of L.I.T. Ministries. Clint developed the workshop, drawing on more than 35 years of experience as a kids' pastor, including 24 years working directly with preteens. Clint has authored and co-authored more than 30 discipleship devotionals and leader's guides for children and preteens. His passion for discipling and equipping young believers to serve and share their faith inspired him to develop Preparing for My Mission Trip: Devotional and Leader's Guide. He also authored and developed Empowering the Next Generation, a discipleship and mission training resource used to equip ministry leaders in more than 21 countries worldwide.

Russ Zacek serves as the Director of Operations for the United States with L.I.T. Ministries. He previously served 15 years as Children's Pastor and 2 years as NextGen Director at Church Alive in Fuquay-Varina, North Carolina, overseeing ministries from birth through young adulthood.

During his time at Church Alive, Russ implemented the L.I.T. model for more than a decade and witnessed incredible results in the lives of kids, youth, and young adults. Remarkably, over 80% of his L.I.T. students continued to follow Christ, serve, and share their faith well into adulthood.
